Brynna began her career as a wizard apprenticed to Sir Demios of Raphael. That wizard got involved in some anti piracy intrigues at the behest of the lord of Serrun in 2006, and Brynna joined him six months later. Their job was to go through the docks and inns of Min and eliminate Pirate captains and crew there.

Brynna liked money and found she could get a lot of it from a pirate Demios had been after for a while if she gave him information about her Master. She arranged a double betrayal, her Master and the rest of his group to the pirates and the pirates then delivered into a 'happenstantial' run in with Serrunese sailor who recognized them moments after the slaying. invisible, she was there as well and made sure none of the pirates would live to tell tales of her.

She collected the Pirate's gold and a good chunk of the reward for that Pirate Captain's death AND outstanding monies owed to the group for their activities prior to death. If only Demios wasn't secretly with the Underground Engineers and being watched by the Ministry of Serendipity, she might have gotten away clean. As it ws, Demios' corpse was interrogated magically and he revealed her role in his murder. Curious, they interrogated the Pirate the same way and the sailors more conventionally. Piecing together how she pulled it off.

Recognizing talent though not in need of hers for their own activities, they passed along her name to other covert departments in Imperial service. She serves people who speak to people who hear the Emperor's words directly.
